

Night Kayaking – Puerto Rico is famous for its bioluminescent bays, and one of the finest is an hour and a half from the hotel. Better appreciated on a moonless night, but a stupendous ecological experience even on moonlit nights, this trip gets you aboard two person kayaks with trained Life Guard/CPR qualified guides who lead you through the mangrove channels of an environmental preserve. When the ambient light level is low, the waters glisten with microorganisms that emit light when disturbed. Fish darting through the mangrove roots create a streak of light. Not recommended for people who are afraid of the dark. To do this activity you should be physically fit. There is a combined weight maximum of 400 pounds per kayak.

Rate per person is $99.00

What to Bring:

Be prepared to get wet... Wearing a bathing suit underneath clothes is a good option

- Wear sneakers or beach shoes – no flip flops
- Bring two towels, one to dry yourself, one to sit on in bus if still in wet clothing

Restrictions:

Do not wear insect repellent containing DEET as this is harmful to the fragile Bio Bay ecosystem.*

- No children under the age of six and all children must have adult supervision
- No alcohol consumption
- Activity is semi-athletic; participants must be capable of rowing
- Combined weight per kayak may not exceed 400 lbs.
- Activity is not suggested for individuals afraid of the dark
- Not recommended on evenings with a full moon. For those evenings, we can offer a Nighttime Full Moon Eco Tour.
- Not offered on Sundays

Please Note:

- A waiver must be signed by each participant during the briefing at the commencement of the activity.

Once ready to confirm please sign and return before November 13, 2013.

TO BOOK, PLEASE CONTACT:

Marilyn Hernandez | Senior Sales Manager
Travel Services, Inc.
787.982.1200

mahernandez@destinationpuertorico.com | www.destinationpuertorico.com